	Pre-structural	Uni-structural	Multi-structural	Relational	Extended Abstract
Creating an art work	I need help to recognise elements of art. My artwork is random.	I have one idea for my artwork. I copy from a reference.	I have several ideas for my artwork, but I need help to choose what to do and where to find references.	I have several ideas. I can pick one and explain why. I can find what I need to draw/paint it. My art has some copied and some original bits.	I have several ideas. I can pick one and explain why. I can find what I need to draw/paint it. I can finish an original artwork.
- Line	I need help to recognise straight, curved or angled lines in a drawing.	I can recognise straight, curved or angled lines in a drawing.	I can recognise and identify where to use straight, curved or angled lines in a drawing.	I can recognise and identify where to use straight, curved or angled lines in a drawing. Lines are correct proportionally. I modify my reference picture a bit to be original.	I can recognise and identify where to use straight, curved or angled lines in a drawing. Lines are correct proportionally. I can create an original drawing.
- Colour	I need help to recognise colours on the colour wheel. I put colour on randomly.	I can recognise colours. I know what warm and cool colours look like together. I need help making colour choices.	I know my colours. I know what warm and cool colours are. I know what complementary colours are. I make a decision.	I know my colour theory. I make a decision on what looks best. I can experiment with colour theory and explain why.	I know my colour theory. I make a decision on what looks best. I can experiment with colour theory and explain why. I try out different ideas before making a decision that is best for the artwork.
- Shape	I need help to recognise a basic shape when I am drawing a picture.	I can recognise the basic shapes when drawing a picture.	I can recognise the basic shapes when drawing a picture. I draw them and correct any mistakes.	I can recognise the basic shapes when drawing a picture. The proportions look right. I can make changes that look right and I can explain my changes.	I can recognise the basic shapes when drawing a picture. I can modify a reference and make original additions that look right. I can explain and justify my artwork.

Are there any improvements we could make to this rubric?

hooked
thinking

www.hooked-on-thinking.com